

Greetings to Family & Friends of Bullhorn News,

We know that gearing up for college can be a daunting process and the pandemic hasn't made it any easier. To help ease the transition, we are organizing a series of events in August that are open to all students in Philadelphia who are considering applying to college. We encourage all students to attend regardless of grade level (meaning you don't have to be a junior or a senior!). As the pandemic creates a bigger gap for students coming from marginalized communities, we wish to offer three days of college readiness sessions with a college admission counselor, Cigus Vanni, otherwise known as the College Fairy. He will be supporting students through applying for financial aid, using the features of Naviance, and Common App.

Form to apply here:

If you have any questions, feel free to contact The Bullhorn at thebullhorn215@gmail.com or UrbEd at zoey@urbedadvocates.org.

We hope to see you take advantage of this opportunity! Apply as soon as possible and spread the news!

Thank You

COLLEGE READINESS WITH THE COLLEGE FAIRY

Cigus Vanni brings forty-five years of experience in education by which he helps students. Cigus presently maintains a small private practice and is college coach for three community-based organizations in Philadelphia: Project 440, the Philadelphia Music Alliance for Youth and Settlement Music School.

He now speaks to the youth about college readiness in this three-week event to help everyone prepare for the future!
